Ideas, and how to reach the top names

Ideas to borrow

- Sell to marketing budgets, not charity. Most corporate "sponsorship request" pages are charity budgets for nonprofits, and several exclude advertising or athletics (Kaiser, BOK, Ent's grants). A court sign at a for-profit club is advertising: Brandon needs the marketing or business-development person, and the pitch is reach and return, not giving.
- Look like Peak's current sponsors. Peak's 28 sponsors are mostly local, owner-run businesses: car dealer, restaurants, home services, clinics, realtors, financial advisors. Owners decide fast. More of the same kind (other dealers, clinics, roofers, med spas near Chapel Hills) may close faster than big corporations.
- Bundle memberships into court sponsorships. Springs Pickleball's $1,000/month Court Partner includes 4 memberships, paddles and gear. Peak's $12,000 court could include staff memberships: it costs Peak little and the sponsor's staff become players.
- Cheaper ways in. Springs Pickleball starts at $250 (event tables) and $1,500 (a league season). Peak's lowest published step is $12,000. A league, tournament or event-table tier lets small local businesses start, then move up.
- Category exclusivity. Springs Pickleball sells it as an add-on: one bank, one hospital, one car dealer. Charge for it, or use it to close.
- Publish the audience. Springs Pickleball shows 20,000+ players, 4,000+ followers, 65+ at every Paddle Up night, 100–300 at events. Peak needs its own real numbers on its sponsor sheet (visits, members, event counts, followers).
- Tournaments and livestream. Springs Pickleball sells tournament tiers with livestream and social coverage. Peak's national events are a bigger story: sell them as their own packages.
- Socials as sponsor space. Peak's Instagram has 918 followers against Springs Pickleball's 4,000+. Taking over and growing Peak's socials is what makes posts, stories and video worth selling to sponsors.

Website pass

Free sources only, checked 2026-10-21. Most public routes are charity budgets that don't fit a for-profit court sign: ask for marketing instead.

Company	Public route	What it means
Kaiser Permanente	Email communityco@kp.org (Colorado sponsorships; up to 6 weeks)	Its rules exclude "advertising activities" and team sponsorships: a court sign will not qualify. Only a community-health event (e.g. free beginner clinics) might.
UCHealth	Community and government affairs, southern Colorado	Its money goes out as grants to nonprofits. A sign at Peak is a marketing spend: ask for marketing, not community giving.
Ent Credit Union	CommunityAdvocacy@Ent.com is for nonprofit grants	Ent says marketing sponsorships are handled separately, at the business level: ask for marketing. Ent is merging with Wings Credit Union.
BOK Financial	Online charitable applications	Its giving excludes "athletic programs". Bill Sullivan is listed as President & CEO, Colorado Market: a marketing conversation, not a giving request.

Alpine Bank	Event sponsorship form (2017, Denver office, written for nonprofits)	Stale and not for a for-profit venue. Ask a Colorado Springs branch who handles marketing.
Cheyenne Mountain Resort	Not looked for	A 2023 travel guide lists pickleball courts at the resort: possibly a competitor. Check before pitching.
Molson Coors	No public route found	Gives mostly in Golden and Denver and to disaster relief.
Coca-Cola (Swire Coca-Cola, USA)	No public route found	Announced a $475M, 620,000 sq ft plant at Peak Innovation Park in Colorado Springs (Dec 2025), about 170 jobs: a local hook.
Concept Restaurants	No marketing contact found	A Gazette Q&A (undated) names co-owners Luke Travins and Dave Lux; ask at MacKenzie’s Chop House or Ritz Grill.
OrangeTheory	Franchise: the studio owner decides	Owner names found are from 2013 (Stetson Hills studio): ask the studio.
Colorado Media Group	Not identified	Nothing found under this name; ask the Sports Corp who it is.
Orthopedic Centers of Colorado (current Peak sponsor)	Outreach form; 1-866-506-7200; info@occ-ortho.com	Open to "athletic partnerships"; proposals due 30 Sep, some exceptions. Already a Peak court sponsor: this is the renewal route.

Wellhub

- Where Peak sits. On Wellhub from the Titanium plan ($159.99 a month) only, per its Wellhub page. Employees on cheaper plans cannot use Peak.
- What Wellhub users get. 24 indoor courts; beginner classes and a "Peak Pickleball University" track; open play, leagues, tournaments; members can reserve courts. Hours 7 am to 9 pm weekdays, 7 am to 8 pm weekends. No visit limits or rules listed.
- Idea: a lower tier. Ask Peak whether it can join a lower Wellhub plan. More employees could walk in, which means more players for sponsors to reach. First ask Peak what Wellhub pays it, and how that would change on a lower plan.
- Idea: Wellhub nights. A beginner clinic or league night for Wellhub users, presented by a sponsor (e.g. a health or fitness company): the sponsor gets the room, Peak gets new players.
- Idea: direct employer plans. Wellhub only covers companies that buy it. A direct group plan (10% off for 1–5 staff, 20% for 6–50, 25% for 51+, as Pickleball Kingdom does; see the Claude Doc) reaches the rest, and the same companies are sponsor prospects.
- Not known. What Wellhub pays Peak, how many Wellhub visits it gets, and which local employers offer Wellhub. Ask Peak.
