Talking points: Peak socials

INTERNAL, for Matthew. Do not hand over.
13 November 2026

The one-line case

Peak covers its big events well and then goes quiet. Nothing on the feed sells the free class, Open Play's empty hours, memberships or sponsors, and it can't, because social is one of five jobs held by one person.

Lead with these numbers (all public, captured 13 Nov)

- 12 posts in 31 days, 9 days with a post, 8 in one week (6–11 Nov, the Veterans Tournament). Silent 14–20 Oct and 30 Oct–5 Nov.
- 0 posts with a booking link; 0 on the free class, classes, Open Play, leagues, sponsors, pro shop or expo. Their own numbers: 45% of free-class takers join (Tyler, 11 Nov); 51% of Open Play sessions had 2 or fewer (baseline).
- Springs Pickleball's Instagram went 803 → 1,193 (+390) while Peak went 918 → 943 (+25). Springs passed Peak. Don't guess why. If asked: "we can't see their ad spend from outside".
- Best post: the 26 Oct Give 'Em Heaven reel (28 reactions, 7 shares, 1.5K plays on Facebook). Earlier promo and tip reels hit 13K, 4.1K and 3.7K plays, so the audience exists.

Cammy: how to talk about it

- Per the 2 Nov notes she does social, video editing, photo and video, graphic design and the pro shop, enjoys the creative side, and wants more floor time. The PDF says "the in-house team" and never names her. Keep it that way out loud too.
- Frame: take the planning, posting, replies, Google, LinkedIn and reporting off her plate; she keeps shooting and design if she wants them. That matches what she asked for: creative work plus time with members.
- Credit what she does well, and do it first: the tournament coverage and the veterans reel were the best posts of the month.
- Don't call anything "bad". Say "there's no time left for the quiet weeks". The "AI content" tag is a question about which app she edits in, not an accusation.

The hours (an estimate, so say so)

- About 18 hours a normal week (15–20), and 6–10 more per event weekend. Built task by task on page 3; it is not a benchmark. Ask Tyler how many hours she has for social now before comparing.
- If Tyler says "give her more hours": those hours come out of the pro shop, design or floor time, which is the trade the meeting was trying to avoid.

Get these before anything else

- Admin access, or exports: Meta Business Suite (90 days of reach, link taps, DMs and response time), Google Business Profile performance plus review replies, Google Analytics social referrals, and CourtReserve weekly registrations (free class, tournament, socials).
- Who else posts? Facebook shared Scott's personal Golden Ticket post on 8 Nov. Ask whether Scott or anyone else posts or answers messages.
- Whether the Facebook group (970 members) is Peak's, and whether to keep or close TikTok, YouTube, Peak Golf IG and Paage.

Watch-outs

Brandon carries the Tyler PDF ("Peak socials, last 30 days"). This page stays with Matthew.

- No price is in the Tyler PDF, and no price should go in this meeting until there's a written scope. Tyler's 11 Nov go-ahead on the "six places to grow" also still needs a priced plan.
- Quick wins to offer even before any deal, all free: fix the CourtReserve Instagram link, update or replace the Paage buttons, unlink the dead TikTok from Facebook, and claim Nextdoor. Each needs Peak's own login, so Peak or its admin does it.
- Gaps in this audit: Facebook 14–20 Oct can't be seen logged out (Instagram shows nothing then), nor can Stories, DMs or the full Google review list. Don't overclaim on those.

Sources: social-audit-2026-11-13/report.md (fact-check log there), posts-30d.csv, inventory-2026-11-13.csv; meeting-2026-11-02.md; data/peak-baseline-2026-11-04.md; data/tyler-2026-11-11/README.md.