COLORADO WILDFIRE MITIGATION CREDIT · C.R.S. 39-22-543

The state covers this work. Almost nobody claims it.

An income tax credit for paying a contractor to reduce fire risk on your own land. It got considerably bigger, and it gets bigger again.

MAXIMUM CREDIT, BY TAX YEAR THE WORK IS DONE

~450	$200k	<50%
claims in the entire state in tax year 2023, the most recent with data	the total it reimbursed — to 457 landowners statewide	of landowners surveyed by the state had heard of it before being asked

- Since August 2024 it covers only what you pay a third-party contractor — buying or renting kit and doing it yourself does not qualify.
- For work done before 2027 the credit cannot exceed what you owe. The remainder is not refunded and cannot be carried forward.
- Any cost paid or reimbursed by a grant does not qualify. Programmes combine; they never double-dip.

> Not tax advice, and we do not file anyone's return. Your accountant is the right person to confirm any of this.

WHY WE KEEP MENTIONING IT

The state's own evaluators went looking for why the number is 450 and found the answer was simply that people have not been told. That is a strange thing to be true of money.

The DOR table is stale for 2027 and the bill's fiscal note contradicts the enacted act. Both were set aside in favour of the statute.
