Peak Pickleball: new website, price and timeline

3 November 2026
Prepared by Matthew Sharpe

A rebuilt peakpickleball.us with one job: turn visitors into class sign-ups, since most people who take a class become members. It fixes what the 22 October audit found: no way to book from the site, slow phone pages, prices and rules that disagree from page to page, forms that can't be sent, and tracking with no privacy policy.

What we build

- Try a class and Book a court on every page, plus the phone number. On phones, a bar fixed to the bottom of the screen: Book, Classes, Call.
- A home page that sells in one screen: what Peak is, the 4.9 stars from 585 Google reviews, and the two buttons.
- One set of prices, hours and rules, stored once and shown everywhere, so pages can't disagree again.
- An edit screen for Cammy: schedule, events, announcements and photos, with no code and no waiting on a developer.
- Buttons that open the right CourtReserve page (class sign-up, open play, court booking), not CourtReserve's front page.
- Forms that work: corporate events and parties, scholarships, and an email sign-up that feeds Peak's email list.
- Fast on phones: compressed photos, no 14 MB autoplay video, the map only on the Contact page. Target: the main image in under 2.5 seconds (it takes 6 to 14 today).
- Privacy, terms, waiver and accessibility pages. Peak's Google Analytics and Meta Pixel stay, with clicks on Book and Class tracked for the coming ads.
- Old page addresses redirected to the new ones, so Peak keeps its place in Google.
- Real photos only, from Peak's own events and daily play. No stock people.

Price

OPTION A · THE WEBSITE

$5,000 one time

Design and build, about 13 pages, phone and computer	$4,500
Cammy's edit screen and the one set of prices, hours and rules	$500
Total · half to start, half at launch	$5,000

Changes after launch: $85 an hour, or covered by Option B.

OPTION B · THE WEBSITE PLUS THE MONTHLY PLAN

$1,400 a month, 12 months

The $5,000 build is included when Peak signs for twelve months. Each month:

- Site hosted and kept up, unlimited small edits, one new page a month
- Google Business Profile: weekly posts, reviews answered, listings cleaned up
- Twelve social posts across two platforms, plus one designed graphic
- Booking and form tracking, one campaign page a quarter, a monthly report and meeting

Google and Facebook ads are priced separately: 12% of what Peak spends each month, $350 minimum. Peak pays Google and Meta directly and keeps the ad accounts.

Audit figures: our checks of peakpickleball.us (34 pages) on 21–22 Oct 2026, rechecked 2 Nov; phone timings from Google Lighthouse lab tests, which vary run to run.
Review count: Peak's Google profile, 22 Oct.

Timeline: about four weeks

From the day we have access and Peak's go

The clock starts when the logins below arrive. Each week ends with something Peak can look at on a phone.

Week 1 · plan and design
- Kickoff call
- Page map and the one set of prices, hours and rules, agreed with Peak
- Home page designed for phone and computer
- Peak approves the look

Week 2 · build
- Every page built
- Cammy's edit screen
- Booking buttons to the right CourtReserve pages

Week 3 · forms and polish
- Events, scholarship and email sign-up forms
- Policy pages, tracking
- Peak's photos in, speed work

Week 4 · test and launch
- Peak tests it on their own phones
- Fixes, old addresses redirected
- Launch, then a walk-through of the edit screen for Cammy

If something we built doesn't work as agreed, we fix it at no charge. New pages or features after launch are changes.

What we need from Peak to start

- Logins or invites: the domain and hosting, the current WordPress site (built by Lighthouse: who controls it?), Google Analytics, Meta (Pixel), Google Business Profile, the email platform.
- One answer per price and rule: the family rate, cancellation notice, membership notice, walk-ins and closing time. The pages give two answers for each today.
- Photos and video from Cammy: events, classes, daily play.
- The waiver and terms wording Peak uses, approved by Peak's own lawyer. We build the pages; the legal wording is Peak's.
- CourtReserve: whether first-time players can book without waiting for approval. That's a CourtReserve setting.
- Who signs off: one person for design and content decisions, so each week ends on time.

Payment

- Option A: $2,500 to start, $2,500 at launch. The new site goes live once the second half is in.
- Option B: billed monthly in advance, on the 1st. Twelve months, then month to month with thirty days' notice.
- Peak owns the finished site and its files once it's paid for.

Not in this price (each quoted on its own when Peak is ready)

- Replacing the email service Peak pays for today, and text messages to members.
- Replacing CourtReserve with Peak's own booking and membership system. The new site works with CourtReserve as it is.
- Running the ads (see page 1), photo or video shoots, and the TV screens at the club.
