BEFORE YOU PAY FOR FIRE MITIGATION

We do the work and show you who pays for it.

Two separate parties will help cover mitigation on your property, and most homeowners are told about neither. Neither is a grant you wait in line for.

Colorado pays the contractor's invoice

The state's wildfire mitigation tax credit covers 100% of what a contractor charges you for qualifying vegetation work, up to a cap. No application, no waiting list — you claim it on your state return. Income limits apply, and the cap rises in 2027.

Your insurer has to show you its working

Since 1 July 2026, a carrier that uses a wildfire risk score to price your policy must give you that score in writing every year, say what drove it, and give a discount for mitigation you can document. You can ask for a re-score once work is done.

Colorado HB25-1182, effective 1 July 2026

~450 property owners in the entire state claimed the wildfire mitigation tax credit in tax year 2023. The legislature's own evaluation of the programme says the binding constraint is awareness — almost nobody knows it exists.

WHAT WE DO

- Felling and full tree removal
- Tree trimming
- Brush and dead fall
- Slash piled and chipped
- Stump grinding
- Defensible space
- Fuel breaks and thinning
- Haul off, or leave it stacked

Every job comes with the paperwork, whether or not you ask. A written scope of exactly what was cut and where, and photographs from fixed positions before and after. One document set — it serves your tax return and your carrier both.

LANDSCAPING · MONUMENT AND THE FRONT RANGE

Mowing, beds, planting — and the place left tidy.

Booked on its own, one visit or standing. Nothing has to be cleared or felled first — this is a service in its own right, not the clean-up after someone else's work.

WHAT WE DO

- Mowing and string trimming
- Edging — beds, walks, drives
- Beds — weeding and mulch
- Planting — shrubs, perennials, trees
- Sod and seed
- Shrub and hedge trimming
- Brush and undergrowth
- Clean-up and haul-away

We walk it before we price it

Somebody comes out, looks at the ground, and counts what is actually there. The price comes off that walk — not off a phone call and a guess. Nothing is owed for the visit.

The same crew every time

Small outfit out of Monument. The people who quote the job are the people who do it, and if something is not right, the crew that did it comes back.

Green waste is your call. Hauled off site, piled where you want it, left in your own bin, or mulched on site and spread. Settled at the walk, not discovered halfway through the job.

Plants, sod and seed are planted in season where we can and to the depth the material needs; what happens after that depends on watering. Anything dead on arrival, tell us.

COLORADO WILDFIRE · A HOMEOWNER'S GUIDE

Embers start most of the homes that burn.

Wind carries burning debris more than a mile ahead of a fire. It lands in your gutter, under your deck, in the mulch against your wall. That is the part you can do something about — and most of it is a weekend, not a contractor.

WHAT IS IN THE GUIDE

- The seven places a house catches — roof, gutters, vents, under the deck, windows, the gap below the siding, the fence
- Why the vent mesh size is the whole point — an ember goes straight through the 1/4-inch screen most houses have
- The three zones, measured from your wall — what to strip, what to thin, what to open, with the actual distances
- The two numbers that do most of the work — where the firewood, the propane and the slash have to sit

> None of it needs us, and we would rather you knew. Read it at SixfoldColorado.com, or take a tab and call and we will put a printed copy in the post. Call us for what is past it — the trees, the acreage, and the part that wants a saw.
